

CORE System Country of Origin

TLDR: It's a UK product, made by a UK company. Some components are made in other places, including China, but all software and firmware is written in-house and installed by Ciqurix in the UK.

Company ownership

Ciqurix Ltd is a privately owned UK company with headquarters in the UK.

Manufacturing locations

Final assembly and test of all products manufactured by Ciqurix is carried out at Ciqurix headquarters in the UK, apart from ATEX approved products which are manufactured and assembled at an ATEX-approved facility in Germany.

Mechanical components including housings and brackets are manufactured in the UK, Italy, China, and the UAE.

Full details of the country of origin of discrete ("dumb") electronic components can be supplied on request for any given system; the details change frequently and are too extensive to be included here. These are sourced responsibly, with traceability, and are manufactured in a wide variety of countries including China.

Most of our printed circuit boards are sub-contract manufactured for us in China, apart from our Controller processor board which is made in the UK. All processor chips we use are of UK or US origin, and all firmware is installed by us in the UK.

Server locations

All servers used to process or store information or software related to products manufactured by Ciqurix are located in the UK, the EU, Singapore, or the US. The one exception is any documentation e.g. schematics which have been provided to sub-contract manufacturing partners located outside these areas for the sole purpose of manufacturing goods to our specification. No product operating software or firmware is provided to any sub-contract partner.

Third-party products

Some of the equipment provided as part of a CORE system constitutes "off the shelf" products supplied and manufactured by a third party. Information about the origin of these products should be obtained from the relevant manufacturer or supplier. It is potentially possible for the customer to specify or control the origin of these products by advanced arrangement with Ciqurix.
